FRANK LOVES BRIDE

St. Elizabeth's Inmate Explains in Letter to Herald.

DENIES SHE SEEKS DIVORCE

Former Soldier, Who Went on Rampage and Was Married at Rockville in Early Morning, Declares He Is not a Lunatic, and will Get His Wife "Some Luxuries."

Edwin Frank, the inmate of the Government Hospital for the Insane, who escaped Tuesday morning, rolled up an $85 taxicab bill, paid it with an alleged worthless check, ate several meals at the New Willard, made a trip to Baltimore, and roused a Rockville minister out of his bed at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, and married Miss Virginia Strouse, of Philadelphia, has written a letter to The Washington Herald telling how much his wife loves him and denying the report that she is going to get a divorce. He further states that he has money and will be able to provide not only a home for his wife, but will give her "some luxuries."

He says he is not a lunatic, but has been an inmate of the hospital for the past six weeks, as the result of a nervous breakdown, caused by the death of both his parents in three weeks. The letter

St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The Washington Herald. D. C.

Sir: Your paper has been giving unusual attention to my affairs in the past two or three days. You state that I am a lunate. Well, my dear sir, I can assure you I was sent here for nothing less than nervous shock caused by the death of both my parents in the period of three weeks. I have been here six weeks, and not six months. I married this girl knowing full well what I was doing.

I married her because I loved her dearly, and she loved me. You can rest assured that no divorce proceedings will be instituted by Mrs. Frank, as she has communicated with me several times since I was sent back to the hospital. Her letters are a part of them. I am entirely willing to show where she states she loves me, and will not be induced by her thought of the process of the pro states she loves me, and will not be induced by her brother and relatives to sue for an annullment. She is without doubt the most refined and respectable lady I have ever come in contact with, and I can assure you I have met quite a few.

My intentions are simply to wait patiently the few days I must stay here before gaining my discharge, and then I will proceed at once to Philadelphia to get my wife. I am able to give her a good, comfortable home, and enough to supply her needs, and also insure some luxuries. Although not rich by any means, my parenta left, me a considerable sum of money, realized from insurance, and personal property. The surrogate's court of New York will inform you that I was left close unto $9,500. This, combined with my education, which I can assure you is as good and better than the average, should be sufficient to insure me a good rection. TRAVELING MEN

Awaits His Appointment. I am a graduate of public school, the City College of New York, and one year I put in Columbia P. and S. (Physicians and Surgeons); also graduated from Packard's Business College after passing civil service examination for stenographer and senior clerk in tax office and bureau of elections, respectively. I am new on the eligible list for the custom house, having taken exam. last year, and am waiting for my appointment, which appointments are made according to percentage. and according to percentage.

Mine Explosions Due to Bituminous, Says Expert Rice.

Contrary to the general belief, the dust of bituminous coal is an explosive more insidious and deadly to the miner than firedamp, in the opinion of George S. Rice, chief mining engineer of the Bureau

Experiments of the last two years at the Pittsburg testing station of the United States Geological Survey have proved Mr. Rice's conclusions correct. Mine operators and miners have believed that near his home, James Hall, thirty-two timore at Pythian Temple last night. coal dust would ignite but they contended that the dust could not explode if it were free from gas. In many mines where no firedamp could be detected, therefore, miners paid little or no attention to the accumulation of dust from the cutting of the coal, and t is in these mines, Mr. Rice asserts in the light of his experiments, that some of the great disasters have taken place. The Bureau of Mines has just issued a bulletin by Mr. Rice referring especially to the appalling series of great, widesweeping disasters that occurred in the United States in 1907, as evidence of the terrible havoc wrought by dust explosions.
